Queen Anne's County Public Schools and University of Phoenix FAQ

How much can Queen Anne's County Public Schools teachers and staff save on the cost of tuition?
All Queen Anne's County Public Schools teachers and staff are eligible to save 10 percent on the cost of tuition for any degree programs, certificate programs and individual courses at University of Phoenix. Additionally, application fees will be waived for Queen Anne's County Public Schools teachers and staff.

When can Queen Anne's County Public Schools teachers and staff start taking advantage of the tuition savings?
Current University of Phoenix students must identify themselves as Queen Anne's County Public Schools teachers and staff through the University of Phoenix eCampus site to receive the tuition reduction. To identify themselves via eCampus, students will need to log in, select the Account tab, and click on the Employer/Tribal Academic Partnership Program link. They should then select Queen Anne's County Public Schools and answer all pertinent questions.

In addition to online courses, does University of Phoenix also offer campus-based courses?
Yes. We offer a wide variety of online and campus-based programs although program availability and format vary by location. Please check with a University Enrollment Advisor. Students can visit phoenix.edu/qacps to browse our degree programs and search online or local campus programs.

Is University of Phoenix accredited?
Yes. University of Phoenix is accredited by the Higher Learning Commission and is a member of the North Central Association (ncahlc.org). Visit phoenix.edu/about_us/accreditation.html for information about University of Phoenix accreditations and licensure.

Does University of Phoenix offer Continuing Teacher Education Courses?
University of Phoenix offers continuing education courses to teachers in various disciplines. Class assignments contribute to positive educational outcomes that align to your needs and the needs of your students, schools and districts. Our graduate-level courses are available online and at select campus locations to offer you greater flexibility; and they’re taught by faculty members who hold advanced degrees and have working experience in the subjects they teach.

Our education courses earn the continuing education credits you need for potential recertification, endorsements or professional growth. Class assignments relate to your job and the needs of your school. Individual courses help you to expand your knowledge beyond your original degree specialty. They are typically three-credit courses and six weeks in length, and sometimes have educational requirements that you must meet before taking the course. Visit phoenix.edu/qacps to view Continuing Teacher Education course offerings.

Important Information
- Check with your state’s Department of Education and your local District to ensure that your courses can be applied toward a certificate or college credit.
- Credits could be transferred to another institution, but it’s your responsibility to confirm whether or not that institution accepts University of Phoenix credits.
- Continuing teacher education courses are not intended to transfer to degree programs at University of Phoenix.
- While widely available, not all courses may be available in all locations, or in both the online and campus formats. Please check with a University Enrollment Advisor.

Where can Queen Anne's County Public Schools teachers and staff get answers to other detailed questions?
For additional information visit phoenix.edu/qacps or call 866.354.1800.